ISHED, AN OLD AND filly hotel of 36 rooms, lo-only $125 per month for NOLAN & BMITH, 34 By Telegraph to The Times.

Niles (O.), Dec. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The community was startled this evening by the discovery of one of the 11-ROOM HOUSE, 805 most wholesale and bloody butcheries that ever occurred in this section of the State.

The victims, five in number, are Charles Shelar and wife and three children. The ISHED COTTAGE OF f month, or part will be work. Apply at KIN-at ave., near Adams. 23 crime is supposed to have taken place at an early hour this morning. early hour this morning. When the inhuman deed was discovered, at 5 o'clock this evening, all five bodies were stiff and cold in death, with their throats cut from ear to ear. Shelar and his wife were lying together across the foot of the bed, and the three children were on the floor, in different parts of the house. Shelar of late drank heavily, and it is rumored that he and his wife did not live happily. The theory advanced is that Shelar, in a fit of madness, cut the throats of his wife and children and then his own. Shelar purchased a razor yesterday evening.

Kittle Meeker, a little sister of the murdered woman, caused the discovery of the tragedy. She went to the house to deliver the evening's milk, as usual, and was unable to gain admittance. Charles Mossman was in the vicinity, and she told him about it. He went with her to the rear of the house and, finding the door open, entered. The first floor of the house was deserted, but a terrible sight met their eyes in the second story. A dead baby was on the floor in one room; two murdered children, with gaping, bloody throats, lay in their bed in another chamber, while the murderer and his wife lay dead on their own couch.

It appeared that the wife was the first victim, and that she made a desperate fight for life. The broken handle of a razor was found by her side. Then came the bloody slaughter of the children. The murderer then apparently took a lamp, went to the mirror, and deliberately cut his own throat, and staggering to where his wife lay, threw himself upon her body.

The scene of the tragedy was sickening, Niles is intensely excited, and strong men who viewed the bodies turned faint, and rushed into the open air, and women had to be borne out of the house. The only theory advanced thus far as to the cause of the crime is insanity.

THE SHIP WAS TOO HOT. Sailors Narrate a Pitiful Tale of excited, and seemed risd to be liberated from the clipper, which they characterized as the "hottest" they ever salled in. They stated that the first mate had been in from for nearly two months. While off the Horn the mate quarreled with a seaman, and the latter was thrown querboard by him and drowned. The mine was considered a severe character, the never allowed the forecastle hands any peace while at liberty. He often picked quarrels with the men and maltreated them on the slightest provocation. The Belkmap is under command, of Capt. Stables, who is considered a hard master, and has been in the habit of carrying with him brutal officers. The vessel left New York a year ago for San Francisco, and on her arrival at the Golden Gate her crew told a pitiful stary of cruelty on the part of the captain and officers. The Belkmap is considered the finest clipper in the American fleet.

AN OLD POLITICIAN GONE. Death of Ex-Congressman Mattison of New York.

UTICA (N.Y.), Dec. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] Hon. Orsamus B. Mattison died today, aged 84. He was Representafrom this district in the Phirty-first, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses. While in Congress in 1856-57 Mattison was charged with de-claring that a large number of members of Congress were purchasable. The affair Congress were purchasable. The affair caused great excitement in Congress and throughout the country. A resolution ordering his expulsion was offered in the House, but after a long and bitter debate it was killed. Before it could be called up again Mattison resigned his seat. About this time a number of Congressmen and other prominent persons in the National Hotel in Washington were poisoned. It was believed to be a pro-slavery plot to murder President-elect Buchanan and seat Vice-President Breckinridge. Mattison was one of those poisoned, and came very near dying; in fact, his health was affected permanently.

MORE RACE TROUBLES. Whites and Blacks Again at It in Mississippi.

St. Louis, Dec. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] Meager reports are received that a riot is in progress at Pott's Camp, Miss., 65 miles from Memphis. The trouble was precipitated by a fight between a white man and a negro, in which the latter was worsted. He went out from the town and collected a party of friends and returned to clear out the victor. The whites railled clear out the victor. The whites railled and a fight ensued in which half a dozen people were wounded, but none killed. It is reported that everybody is in arms, and further trouble is expected.

Later advices received this evening that three of the negroes were arrested and jailed. About 11 o'clock an unsuccessful attempt was made to release the prisoners by the blacks, when a riot ensued, and two negroes, Tom McGnee and Henry Starks, were fatally, and another negro seriously, shot. The trouble originated about the ownership of a doz. Rumors are afont of squads of negroes collecting in the country, but lack confirmation.

She presented a battered appearance externally and her red funnels were incrusted with brine. During the storm, which lasted five days, everything movable was swept from the decks and terrific waves crushed a portion of the bridge on the starboard side.
Two lifeboats were stove in. Two sailors were thrown against the gunwale and seriously injured.

SOME EASTERN WEATHER,

Mid-winter Thunderstorm and a Cold Wave. BUFFALO, Dec. 22.- [By the Associated Press.] The city was visited by a singular phenomenon, a mid-winter thunderstorm early this morning. The thunder-peals were terrific and the lightning was almost continuous. The wind blew at the rate of 60 miles a hour. Several small buildings partially collapsed, and other slight damage was done. Sr. Louis, Dec. 22.-A cold wave seems to be approaching from the northwest. The Signal Service reports that the thermometer tonight registered at Winnipeg zero, at Colgury 2 below, at Qu'Appelle 4° below, at Prince Albert 22° below.

WHITE-HOUSE PUNCH

WHICH WAS NOT QUAFFED BY PAN-AMERICANS.

Alleged Occurrence that Furnishes the Text for Reams of Prohibition Epistles to Mrs. Harrison.

By Telegraph to The Times. WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—By the Associated Press. J Mrs. Harrison is deluged with letters about that historical whisky punch which she did not give to the Pan-punch which she did not give to the PanAmerican delegates a month ago, but which many temperance fanatics are bound to be lieve sha did. A specimen letter recently received by Mrs. Harrison runs thus:

"Can it be possible that the contents of this slip of paper are true? I cut it out of a little paper called the Journal. I cannot bring myself to alleve it is true, but, if A a. be, then, ob. 3. Harrison stop and the I no.

Nation, and for what purpose? Oh was it to deal out death and damnation to our fellow-beings, who, with yourself, were created in the image of God? Alas! I feel as if the name of Harrison is polluted. I had a dear brother of that name who would have died for the cause of temperance. I am glad he is not alive to know that such an awful, disgraceful act took place at the Executive Mansion. Look back at the lovely example which Mrs. Hayes left you, and in the name of God who has said, 'by g'clean-who bear the vessels of the Lord,' and in the name and for the sake of suffering humanity, do, Oh! do, let it be the last. Pardon me if you consider my language too strong, but you know nothing of the real, intense agony which mothers, wives, sisters and children endure by this traffic. Will you, O! will you, continue still to make drunkards, while you read, in your Bible that no drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven? I leave this to you; take it to the Lord in prayer. I am your friend, (Signed)

GRAVES ROBBED.

Washington Doctor Implicated in an Ugly Affair. WASHINGTON (D. C.), Dec. 22.—(By the Associated Press.) Dr. Adams, demonstrator in ten of the medical colleges here charge of being concerned in a grave-rob

The driver and two other men who were The driver and two other men who were with the vehicle escaped. The body of the white woman has been identified as that of Mrs. Cheek, wife of a gentleman living in this city. The ears had been foully mutilated and the fingers bruised by the force with which the robbers had stripped them of their rings in order that they might not be held on the serious charge of larceny if caught with the body. The law here makes no provision for the punishment of grave robbers.

Testing New Naval Boilers.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Secretary Tracy has received a preliminary report from the has received a preliminary report from the board of naval engineers appointed by him some time ago to conduct the competitive tests of the Ward and Cowles coil boilers. The board in its preliminary report gives the result of the recent tests of the Ward boiler, which, it says, was highly satisfactory. The board expects soon to make a thorough test of the Cowles boiler, and will then present a detailed report on the comparative merits of these two boilers.

THE RAIN. ALMOST A STEADY DOWNPOUL

YESTERDAY. The Cable System in a Worse Pre dicament Than Before-No Reports of Washouts on the Railroads-A Big Total Rainfall.

The rain came down in torrents during the greater part of yesterday, and from 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon until the same hour yesterday 1.11 inches of water fell, making the total for the season up to date 18.78 inches, about two inches more than the average rain fall for the season. As usual, the cable company was the first to feel the effects of the downpour, and are the greatest sufferers. Every precaution had been taken by Supt. Robinson to keep his lines in operation, and as soon as the rain began to fall, the boiler-room of the Seventh-street the boiler-room of the Seventh-street power-house was bulkheaded and the steam pump set to work, which precaution was also taken at the Boyle Heights and East Los Angeles houses. All of the lines were kept going, with short interruptions, until 2:45 o'clock, when the rush of water down Seventh was so great that the machinery was shut down, and the copduits on the Seventh-street extension bulkheaded. This was found to be ineffectual, and the main lines from Jefferson street to the Plaza closed for the day, and all hands were called in and put to work trying to keep the immense volume of water under control. But little progress was made, as in addition to the streams coming in from the conduits, a hole six or eight feet across had been washed out of the street under the curb, on Grand avenue, through which an immense volume of water poured, and at 10 o'clock last night there was eight or ten feet of water in the powerhouse, making the chances for resuming traffic this morning very slight, unless the rain should cease. But this is not all. The massive foundations of the structure have been greatly weakened, and the water is now working under them from the outside, so that there is danger of the whole wall being undermined. The entire force will remain on duty all night, to guard against accidents, and if such a thing is possible, the cars will be started out this morning.

The Boyle Heights and East Los Angeles lines continued in operation long after it became unsafe. The water was coming down Alameda street like a river, bringing with it débris of every description, including several good-sized trees, and while there was no danger to the passengers the cable company took a great risk of sustaining a heavy loss. The situation at the power-house on the Heights is also very bad, as the foundations have also been weakened, as at Grand avenue. The East Los Angeles house is in good shape compared with the others, and unless some unlooked-for accident occurs that line at least will be started this morning.

Altogether, power-house was bulkheaded and the steam pump set to work, which pren in the entire day without interption.

Aside from the damage to the cable roads, no losses are reported. There is comparatively little water in the river, and no trouble is anticipated from that quarter. The streets are, of course, in a frightful condition. The steam railroads, up to this time, have evidently not been damaged, all the trains coming in on time last evening. MILK WAGON WASHED AWAY.

Tom Sappington, the driver of the Honey Grove milk wagon, had a narrow escape last evening. After serving his customers, he started for his home, beyond Boyle Heights. On arriving at the arroyo, a creek about two miles east of the Heights, he found the stream very much swollen. His father ad become very uneasy about him, on account of his long absence, and was waiting for him on the other side. Young Sappington was warned not attempt to make the crossing, and waited a few minutes for the waters to subside. Becoming impatient, he determined to try and make it, and taking off his rubber coat and boots, drove his team into the the rivories. Sappington went down once or twice before he could collect himself, when he at once struck out for his team, and finally succeeded in getting the horses unhitched, when they swam ashore, but the wagon, with cans, crate and everything it contained, floated off down the stream. # AN EARLY FIRE,

The Wonder Millinery Store Burned -Other Damage. Yesterday morning, a little before 6 o'clock, a fire was discovered in the rear workroom of The Wonder millinery store, in the one-story brick block adjoining the Hammam Bath building, on the east side of South Main street, midway between Second and Third streets. An alarm was at once turned in, and the engines promptly responded, and by hard work succeeded in confining the fire to the contents of the room being watersoaked. Mr. Traphagen, the manager, estimates his total loss anywhere from $500 to $800, on which he has an insurance of $700 in the westchester of New York. The baths will continue without interruption for men only, until the repairs can be made, which will be in a day or two.

M. C. Mickeljohn, merchant tailor, who occupies the adjoining store, escaped without damage, not even a pane of glass being brokee, as did the French laundry in the rear, although the latter moved out.

The building belonged to Mr.
Schwartz, and was insured for $2500, which will more than cover the loss.
Nothing is known as to the origin of the fire. Mr. Peake, of The Wonder, says that the most probable theory is that it caught from sparks from the chimney of the bathouse, the laundry put out sparks from this place during the day. There was a large window in the rear of the store in which there was no sash, but over which a double lace curtain was atrected, and it is believed that this caught from a spark, which started the blaze.

While the fire was in progress a drunken man named Daniel Morris was detected by Officer Grubbs making off with a couple of hats. Morris was taken into custody and locked up on a charge of petty larceny. He is in the employ of the Empira laundry, and during the afternoon the proprietors came to the station and put up bail for him. They said that he had been in their employ for a year or two, and had always done faithful work, and that this was the first time they had ever known of bim drinking.

QUEER DIBAGHEEMENT

Between Mme. d'Aubigny and Mrs.

Eugenia K. Holmes, A day or two a note was received at the police station from Mme. Elizabeth d'Aubigny, proprietress of the "Old Curiosity Shop! in the Wilson block, stating that she had been blackmailed by Mrs. Eugenia K. Holmes, a lady who has figured around the newspaper offices of tha city for the past year or two, and giving a list of articles which she calarined Mrs. Holmes was holding as blackmail. The case was given to Detective Wallin, who, after an investigation, came to the conclusion that at the present stage of the proceedings, at least, there was nothing or minial, or at least nothing on which to base an arrest, and so reported, was found busily at work among her curios, putting them in order. ### IN SOCIETY.

A Number of Notes Crowded Out of Yesterday's Social Column. The regular weekly entertainment of the Illinois Association Friday evening was attended by a large audience, and the programme proved the most attractive of the season thus far. The first part consisted of vocal selec-tions, by Mr. A. W. Worms and his tions, by Mr. A. W. Worms and his young daughter, Bertha; guitar solos and song, by Mr. A. M. Monsanto; humorous recitations, by Miss Jennie Prewett; a come song, by Mr. G. W. Hersee; a dramatic selection, by Prof. Henry, entitled "The Miser's Just Fate"; and a very laughable recitation, by Mr. Henry Harrison, concerning the mistake of a feminine book agent. The various efforts were well received, and most heartily applauded. Prof. Henry took the audience by storm, as did several of the other artists.

promptly responded, and by hard work succeeded in confining the fire to the building in which it started, with the exception of the Hammam building, it is interior of which was considerably damaged. In the millinery store nothing was saved, the entire stock being a total loss. Mr. Peake the proprietor, says that he had a stock of $2000 on hand, and as late Saturday had put in about $200 worth of fine velvets. His loss is complete, what is left not being worth $50. Mr. Peake carried an insurance of $4000, $3000 of which was in the Prussian and $1000 in another company, the name of which he could not remember. He had another policy of $2000 up to last week, which he allowed to lapse. Twelve hands, all girls, were employed in this place.

The fire effected an entrance into the Hammam building through one of the side windows in the men's department, on the ground floor. This room had a handsomely decorated cloth ceiling over the rafters, which went like a flash, and in a few seconds fell to the place was filled, there being 15 men as leep in the various apartments, and a scene of wild contusion ensued, the inmates grabbing their clothes and rushing out half dressed into the office to

A PRACTICAL JOKE.

How the City Pound Master's Rest

Pound Master Farrell is one of the

est natured cfficials in the employ of the city, and enjoys a joke as well as any one, provided always that they are perpetrated at the right time and place, perpetrated at the right time and place, otherwise they are exceedingly distasteful. A case in point occurred a few nights ago. About 2 o'clock Officer Huff telephoned from Boyle Heights that he had a stray horse at the corner of Cummings and First streets. The clerk in charge of the station told the mounted officer on duty to go over and get the animal and take it to the city pound. The officer started out as if to carry out the order, and in about 10 or 15 minutes a order, and in about 10 or 15 minutes a message was received from some one message was received from some one asking the pound-keeper's telephone number. This was given, and Mr. Farrell was called up and informed that there were seven loose horses at the corner of First and Cumples at the corner of First and Cumples attents. mings streets, and asking him to come over after them. Since the dog pound was abolished grass has been very short with the pound-keeper, and seven loose horses in a bunch was quite a windfall, which Mr. Farrell hastened to take advantage of the called his assistant. and thirty gallons of the very best wine.

and, hastily hitching up his buggy, he threw in seven or eight halters, and providing himself with a bottle of antidote for the night atmosphere, he started for his prize. Arriving at the designated spot, Officer Huff was found leaning against a fence, holding a solitary horse by a rope. Mr. Farrell wanted to know where the others were, no make the was told that there were none, and that the message, which had been sent- to the stated that one animal had been corraled. Then it began to dawn on Mr. Farrell that he had been victimized, as it were, and the air became sulphurous in the vicinity. The horse was taken in charge, and when he had been landed in the pound, Mr. Farrell went to the police station, where he registered a kick, but it did no good, as no one knew anything about how he got the word that seven horses were waiting for him. Mr. Farrell is still on the hunt for the guilty party, but up to the present time he has not been found.

trings us to a wedding in that village, plain people having-plodged each other,
hand and beart, and their friends having come in for congratulation, the cup on the cup on the table may

Well, we are today at the wedding in Gama, of Gallies. Jesus il sarider that there are more people there bold dencincy of wins. It is not for me, Lord of heaven and earth, to be come caterer to this feast. I have vastef things than this to attend to."

Not so said Jesus. The wine gave out, and Jesus. Does there ever came to the rescue. Does there ever come a scant supply in your house hold? Have you to make a very close calculation? Is it hard work for you to carry on things decently and respectably? If so, don't sit down and cry. Don't go out and fret; but go to Him who stood in the house in Cana of Galilee. Pray in the kitchen! Let there be no room in all your house unconsecrated by the voice of prayer. If you have a microscope, put under it there be no room in all your house unconsecrated by the voice of prayer. If you have a microscope, put under it to une drop of water, and see the insects floating about; and when you see that God makes them, and cares for them, and feeds them, come to the conclusion that He will take care of you and feed you, oh, ye of little faith.

A boy asked if he might sweep the wine.

It is just like him! Doing every-should have that wine. Hundreds of people have been married without any wine. We do not read that any of the other provisions fell short. When Christ made the wine it was not a necessity, but a positive luxury. I do not believe that he wants us to eat hard bread and sleep on hard mattresses, unless we like them the best. I think, if circumstances will allow, we have a right to the luxuries of dress, the luxuries of diet and the luxuries of residence. There is no more religion in a lold coat than instance. We have a right to the luxuries of the luxuries ous, and exhausted with the cares of housekeeping. I commend you to the Lord Jesus Christ as the best adviser and the most efficient aid—the Lord Jesus who performed his first miracle to relieve a housekeeper.

I learn also from this miracle that Christ does things in abundance. It think a small supply of wine would have made up for the deficiency. I think certainly they must have had enough for half of the guests. One gallons will be enough: certainly five gallons will be enough: certainly five gallons, and forty gallons, and forty gallons, and fifty gallons, and seventy gallons, and fifty gallons, and so thirty gallons, and one hundred and thirty gallons and forty gallons, and seventy gallons, and so the very best wine.

It is just like him! Doing everything on the largest and most for his own children. It is great poverty had come, and on the week day the man was obliged to move out of the house with his whole family. That night he knelt with his family and prayed to God. While they were kneeling in prayer there was a tap on the window-pane. They opened the window and there was a raven that the family had fed and trained, and it had in its bill a ring all set with precious stones, which was found out to be a ring belonging to the roval family. It was taken up to the King's residence, and for the honesty of the man in bringing it back he had a house given to him, and a garden, and a farm. Who was it that sent the raven tapping on the window? The same God that sent the raven to feed Elijah by the brook Cherith. Christ in the hour of extremity!

You mourned over your sins. You could not find the way out. You sat down and said: "God will not be merciful. He has cast me off." But in that, the darkest hour of your history, light broke from the throne, and Jesus said: "O, wanderer, come home. I have seen all thy sorrows. In this, the hour of thy extremity, I offer thee pardon and everlasting life!"

Trouble came. You were almost torn to pieces by that trouble. You braced yourself up sgainst it. You said: "I will be a Stoic and will not care;" but before you had got through making the resolution it broke down under you. You felt that all your resources were gone, and then Jesus came. "In the fourth watch of the night," the Bible says, "Jesus came walking on the sea." Why did he not come in the first watch? or in the second watch? or in the third watch? I do not know. He came in the fourth, and gave deliverance to his disciples. Jesus in the last extremity!

I wonder if it will be so in our very last extremity. We shall fall suddenly sick, and doctors will come, but in vain. We will try the anodynes, and the stimulants, and the bathings, but all in vain. Something will say: "You must go." No one to hold us back, but the hands of eternity stretched out to pull us on. What then? Jesus will come to us, and as we say, "Llord Je the billow. Jesus in the last extremity!

That wedding scene is gone now. The wedding ring has been lost, the tankards have been broken, the house is down; but Jesus invites us to a grander wedding. You know the Bible says that the church is the Lamb's wife; and the Lord will after a while come to fetch her home. There will be gleaming of torches in the sky, and the trumpets of God will ravish the air with their music; and Jesus will stretch out his hand, and the church, robed in white, will put aside her veil stretch out his hand, and the church, robed in white, will put aside her veil and look up into the face of her Lord the King, and the bridegroom will say to the Bride: "Thou hast been faithful through all these years! The mansion is ready! Come home! Thou art fair, ray love!" and then he shall put upon her brow the crown of dominion, and the table will be spread and it will reach across the skies, and the nighty ones of heaven will come in, garlanded and temire, and say. That is Jesus, the bridegroom! But the scar on his brow is covered with the coconet, and the stab in his side is covered with a robe!" and "That is the brided the weariness of her earthly woe lost in the flush of this wedding triumph!"

There will be wine enough at that wedding; not coming up from the poisoned vats of earth, but the vineyards of God will press their ripest clusters, and the cups and the tankards will blush to the brim with the heavenly vintage, and then all the banqueters will drink standing. Esther having come up from the bacchanalian revelry of Ahasuerus, where a thousand lords feasted, will be there. And the Queen of Sheba, from the banquet of Solomon, will be there. And the mother of Jesus, from the wedding in Cana, will be there. And the will agree that the earthly

The railroad subsidy should not be allowed to lag. Not 25 per cent. of those who can afford to subscribe have yet been heard from, though a quarter of a million dollars is pledged. And not 10 per cent, of those whom a new road would benefit have yet been visited. There is money and land enough available to round out the full proportions of the subsidy, and they must be had.

A Think-tank Thought

In this age of progress the thoughts of the populace are ever ahead of the times. Sometimes they can see nothing in the future but a mist of uncertainty with a foreground of disappointments and failures. The atmosphere is heavy and dark, and the rays of the sun of promise are obscured by the low-hanging clouds of doubt. sun of promise are obscure low-hanging clouds of doubt.

It is safe to say that not one person in ten have a syphilitic trouble. Hence what do they want with such dangerous minerals as mercury and potash? What nine-tenths of our people are troubled with is indigestion, dyspepsis, sick headaches, constipation and face eruptions, all of which are the legitimate results of improper liver and kidney action, or impaired digestive organs. Those disorders do not call for syphilitic breatment, but for mild vegetable liver, stomach and howel alteratives. We are surgiced that organs. A trip through Los Angeles county, just after the recent heavy rainstorm, is both instructive and interesting. It is true that travel would be more lition, but the inconvenience of a lit-le mud is far more than counterbalced by the evidences of solid prosperity and advancement which are cause the impression has gone abroad that, since the mysteri-ous vine disease and the red scale visited that section, it succumbed to "innocuous desuetude," as far as horticultural progress goes. This is a city to convenient points? grand mistake. vine industry in that section is temporarily a thing of the past, and that the orange trees have en seriously set back by the inroads of the red scale, but the farmers of the anta Ana Valley are fully equal to the occasion. The dead vines have been grubbed out and other crops are being planted in their place. Orange trees are being cut back and sprayed with most encouraging results.

There is, indeed, every encouragement for the farmers of this fertile valley to view the future with equanimity and confidence. In the remark-ably productive soil of this favored on there is a fund of wealth of which no temporary reverses can rob them. For mile after mile stretch beautiful homes embowered in trees— small productive farms, the bulwark of a country's prosperity. Here the problem of a living on 10 acres has been most thoroughly and satisfactorily solved. Many are not only making a living for their families on that amount of land, but are also putting by money in bank, and this with less labor than is needed in any farming community of he United States. There is practically no limit to the varied production of which the soil of this section is capable. Growing side by side in the Santa Ana Valley may found oranges, lemons, limes, walnuts, chestnuts, apples, pears, prunes, guavas, berries, beets, peanuts, vegetables of all descriptions, beans, grain, alfalfa and a hundred other products peculiar to many different zones. The English walnut, a very profitable crop. is being largely planted, many thou sand acres being contracted to set out this year. It is calculated that, after seven years, this tree is from Jamaica, and will pay 10 per cent. on $2000 a literal translation an acre, and it has the extra the French original: advantage that other crops may be uccessfully grown between the trees, while they are coming to maturity. Peanuts of fine quality are also being ccessfully grown, the exports of th prop from the valley amounting this as In the frostless belts of the valley the raising of winter crops of vegetables, such as tomatoes, peas and cabbages, for shipment to San Francisco and the East, is being made quite a feature.

One thing which is badly needed in this, as in many other sections, is an establishment for the preserving of fruit by canning, drying, and so forth. There is altogether too much waste of valuable farm products. For instance, tons of small oranges rot on the ground, when they might be cou-verted into marmalade, such as is now imported from Europe. We need re economy in small things among our farmers. All this will however ome with time. The fact to which we desire specially to call attention here, is that a section like Southern California, with so wonderfully rich a soil, capable of such varied production, signs himself "President of the Placer ing merrily. It has already got so far County Board of Trade," put into his that Mr. Brice's friends are intimating with the truth as the following:

with the truth as the following:

Two years ago this month Placer county made a free exhibit of her citrus products in Los Angeles, exhibiting a carload of oranges there at a period when it would have been impossible for the southern part of the State to have exhibited an equal quantity of this ripe fruit, showing several weeks' forwardness of season in ripening, to the advantage of Placer county. This exhibition was witnessed by over 30,000 visitors, and dissipated much of the incredulity which had existed concerning the capabilities of Placer county.

Placer county and her exhibit were Placer county and her exhibit wer treated fairly while in Los Angeles. Is the above a just and reciprocal return?

IT is a deplorable fact that we have but an inconsiderable part of the trade of the countries to the south. Their mmerce amounts to about $700,000,-000 a year. Almost the whole of it is in the hands of France, England, Germany and Belgium. By giving substantial encouragement and support to steamship lines, as other nations have done for years and are doing, our Government can solve the problem of commercial expansion, which directly concerns all classes of American producers. The United States can make nerself supreme, commercialy, in South American markets. But not through a national policy of supine indifference to the great trade advantages open to our people in those countries; not through the policy which has allowed our commercial marine to disappear from southern waters.

THE friends of Maj. McKinley, en couraged by his appointment as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, are more than ever encouraged to bring him to the fore as a candidate for Governor of Ohio in 1891, in the belief that his election at that time would make him the Presidential nominee in 1892. Gov. Foraker announces that he is out of politics, and if he is, and stays out, that element of opposition in McKinley's own State will be removed. But the question as to claims the statement that the crops of whether Foraker is out of politics is a those States were an almost utter

The shipment of 300 tens of pig iron which was made on Thanksgiving day from Sheffield, Ala., to St. Louis, by the river route, is an important event in the history of the Southern iron industry. It was made possible by the This remark applies particularly to the Muscle Shoals in the Armondon the Santa Ana Valley, that rich section of productive soil included in the trict of Tennessee and Alabama into communication by water with the communication by water with the model length of the Mississippi and uri rivers and their tributaries. With the opening to Los Angeles of the great iron and coal region of Utah, why may we not, at no distant day, see heavy shipments of pig iron from this

THE opinion prevails in Washington that Congress will have to foot the bill for whatever fun Mr. Stlcott may have had out of the seventy thousand and odd dollars which he took out of the safe of the Sergeant-at-Arms. In fact, the matter has already been sent to the Court of Claims, to pass upon he question of responsibility. Silcott's bond, it is said, is good for nothing. As 215 members are losers through the rascally Silcott, how would it do to divide the $70,000 into 215 parts, of different dimensions, and declare an Irish dividend? Why should not Congress embrace the opportunity to create a sensation in the country when it has the chance?

THE Kansas City Globe of the 8th

THE Kansas City Globe of the 8th says:

The trouble over California tourist rates has been settled only to bring to light the fact that the regular California tickets, especially the one-way tickets, are being extensively manipulated. The cut is made mainly by the southern lines, where a more intense competition seems to exist than even by the northern routes. Chairman Abbott of the Western States Passenger Association is now trying to settle the difficulty, and to that end has issued a call of all lines interested in the Pacific Coast business for a meeting to be held in the association rooms in Chicago, December 13th.

It is claimed in Los Angeles that a settlement favorable to managers of the tourist business has been made, and they are preparing to enter the field afresh.

THE State Department, some time ago, wrote to our foreign representatives, directing them to forward the national airs of the several countries to which they are sent for insertion in the book compiled by Lleut. > NATURAL gas is not apparently to be depended upon for any great length of time. Owing to the partial failure of the gas supply in the Ohio River Valley fields, some big works have been cut off, and many furnaces in that neighborhood have been seriously inmmoded by the scant supply, the companies reserving their full strength for private consumers.

By a well-known law of other things being equal, manufactur-ing naturally seeks the base of supply of raw material. Los Angeles is no the base of coal and iron supplies, by she could be made very nearly so by the opening of a line of railway east-ward to the mineral regions of Utah. Let us keep this prim fact in view, and act upon it.

ADMIRAL SIR GEOFFREY HORNBY says that the English navy is still deficient in fast sea-going ships, in big guns that can be fired, in drilled crews and in other decidedly essential elements of naval strength. Another English expert says that "America is to be the great naval power of the future." Thanks on behalf of Amer-

THE Chicago Tribune publishes the translation of an alleged poem, said to have been written by Dom Pedro. Those who read it will no longer have cause to wonder at the late revolution which caused the abdication of the Brazilian Emperor. Dom Pedro is fortunate to have escaped with his life.

Probably the only postoffice in the world without a postmaster is one in the Straits of Magellan. It consists of a small cask, chained to the rocks, at which vessels of the various nations stop to take out and mail letters. It wouldn't be on the American coast very long without a postmaster.

THE Leland Stanford University will be a grand thing for the rising generation of California, but before we give ourselves to unrestrained rejoicing over the benefits which are likely to accrue from it, we should be glad to know whether it will be likely to turn out a first-class base tall nine.

"REDUCE the surplus!" has long been the wild Democratic yell. Silcott obeyed orders and whittled the surplus down $70,000 at one fell swoop.

A PRETTY

we are quite ready to believe that this singular missive should have been received with no little indignation. Mr. Cleveland seems to be incapable of rising to the plane of fact as respects the Grand Army.

Three well-known London publishing houses, Messrs. Kegan, Paul & Co., Trubner & Co. and George Redway & Co., propose to amalgamate into one limited liability company, with a joint share capital of $500,000, and half as much more debenture capital. This is another evidence of the modern European tendency toward consolidations in the nucleof the modern to the plane of fact as respects the form of the lightest of the lockout on the lightest of the plane of the lockout on the lightest of the puent of the puent and know of no more edigrals on more edigrals on the read for those who prefer to ride. PLACER COUNTY is making a citrus exhibit in San Francisco, to advertise her soil and its capabilities. This is an other evidence of the modern to ward consolidation in the publishing business. Down near the timber, at-a cornfield's edge, Where airy thistle seeds Sail back and forth where each air current leads,
Close by the corner of a tangled hedge
A dog stands firm, half hidden in the weeds,
And listens, yet no warning whistle heeds.

Patient he waits, his attitude the same
As when, all unaware, While rummaging and snuffing, here and there
The scent came auddenly of turking game;
His wrinkled nose snuffa at the tainted air
And in the maize his sharp eyes sideways

Around the hedge his master slowly walks,
And walking tramps and sure

FRESH LITERATURE.

There are many people who hesitate at the delay and the inconveniences and hardships incident to traveling. and hardships incident to traveling. They would like to go abroad, but these things, together with the dread of the ocean voyage, deter them. To people of this class it is a delight to be able to travel by proxy, and to see with others' eyes the interesting sights and scenes of the Old World. To those loving such methods, as well as the still larger class who are unable to the still larger class who are unable to indulge in the delights of a foreign tour will this volume meet with especial favor. It is pleasantly written by one who journeyed with wide-open eyes, and who was quick to see and to note all that was of interest in her surroundings, and who was, as well, a wise student of human nature. The style of the author is direct and unstudied, and so natural is it the reader feels as if he were accompanyfeels as if he were accompany ing her through all the scene described. It is like seeing this im described. "Sesame and Lilies" is one of Mr.
John Ruskin's most notable books. It is not like his "Modern Painters" and his "Stones of Venice," which expound at great length his theories of art and of the relations between art and morals, but it touches very much more closely the every-day life of every individual who thinks and feels.

It is unfortunate that this book has been hitherto accessible to American readers only in very poorly printed editions, and the present edition is made as an attempt to bring the book before the American public in a form worthy of the great elevation of its thought and of its high diction.

One of the number, Ed Mc-Mahon, got out on the sidewalk and fired a pistol, when he was gathered in by Officer Fay, who took him to the police station, where he was booked for disturbing the peace. On being searched an opium pipe was found secreted under his coat, and $45 or $50 was found in his pockets. He was allowed to deposit $20 cash bail for his appearance today and was released, the pipe being retained as evidence against him.

About an hour later Alberto Assevado, the young Mexican who was arrested in connection with the seduction of little Mollie Devoe, got into a fight at the same place with a sewing-machine agent named Johnson, in the employ of the Singer Company, when he was arrested by Officer Valencia, who happened to be in the vicinity. Assevado was brought to the station and booked, after which he was allowed to go out in charge of an officer to get bail, and succeeded in digging up $20, which was deposited, and he was sent home.

Assitude of Its Members on the Bifver Question.

New York, Dec. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] A special dispatch from Washington, referring to the make-up of the House Coinage Committee, says: A reporter endeavored to ascertain the leanings of the members, but several of them were out of the city and could not be seen personally. Carter, Bartine, Bland and Joseph are for the free coinage of silver. The latter, however, has no vote on the committee, as he is a Delegate, and not a Representative, but his influence will be felt. Williams is said to be a very strong silver man, though not committed to unlimited coinage yet. Those who believe in silver, though not in free coinage, are Conger, Wickham, Comstock and Taylor. Mutchler is conservative, but rather friendly than otherwise.

The anti-silver men are Walter, Knappy, Tracy and Wilcox. This is a much stronger silver committee than was anticipated from Reed, and it is reasonable to expect from it legislation of an advanced character. situde of Its Members

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE.

Killed While Attempting to Murder BUTTE (Mont.), Dec. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] John O'Neill died this morning at the residence of William Harris, his son-in-iaw, by whom he was shot on Saturday night. O'Neill and wife separated some months ago, Mrs. O'Neill going to Wyoraing. She returned on Saturday and went to Harris's bouse, where her husband sought her, and after abusing her pulled a pistol and shot at her. Harris had tried to prevent it, but seeing O'Neill determined to went it, but seeing O'Neill determined to kill endeavored to take his weapon from him. O'Neill then fired at Harris, but missed, when Harris drew a weapon and fired two shots, both taking effect. The Coroner's jury today returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

A Sauerkraut Champion [Cor. Chicago Herald.]
An editorial utterance in this morn-ing's issue does injustice to that old-time dainty and venerable Teutonic stand-by—sauerkraut. You intimate that it is a waste of good raw material to use a bottle of champagne in boiling the cabbage, and that a Frenchman would be shocked at such a use of his would be shocked at such a use of his bubbling wine. I can only reconcile the fact that the Herald, usually so well informed on every subject, should give place to such heretical doctrine by the hypothesis that your culmary editor was off on a vacation or spree. Why, sir, sauerkraut has been a recog-nized dish in the daintiest Parisian culsines for over one hundred years. Brillat-Savarin already gives it honorable mention, and there is a score of recimention, and there is a score of recipes for preparing it evolved by the greatest French gastronomers. Choucroute canape saucisse de Lyon, a dish in which Madeira or champagne is used palate of every gourmet. The Prince on sauerkraut. More proof that nothing is too good for sauerkraut might be furnished, if the above be not convincing enough. I trust you will grant to this amende honorable for one of the most palatable and wholesome of comestibles.

Other Coast Dispatches -- Two Offi-cers of the III-starred Ship Durham Drowned-New Rall-way for Oregon.

By Telegraph to The Times.

San Jose, Dec. 22.—William Eubanks, a widower aged about 45 years, about 10 o'clock this morning, went to the kitchen door of the Heath House, at Los Gatos, where his 16-year-old daughter, Ada. was employed, and shot her through the heart with one barrel of a shotgun, she falling and dying instantly. He then turned the other barrel on himself and also fell, but it was subsequently ascertained that he suffered no injury. He then went into an adjoining saloon, and after taking a drink of diquor, went up stairs and gashed his throat from ear to ear with a razor, but did not cut deep enough to endanger his life, the wound being promptly dressed.

A letter scrawled in a memorandum book in his pocket announced his intention to kill himself and his daughter, saying that he could not get along on account of his children. An hour before the shooting he had been reproached by relatives for not caring for his children, and this may have prompted the act.

had been represented by felastic caring for his children, and this may have prompted the act.

The unrefered zirl left her father's house six weeks ago to escape abuse and had since worked in the house where she was killed. The Los Gatos people all give the girl an excellent reputation for industry and other good qualities, and 'say her father's only ground for complaint was that she insisted on using her slender earnings for the support of her younger brothers and sisters, instead of giving them to him to squander for whisky.

In an interview in jail, Edbank said he did not want to live, because of the girl's immorality. He explained his failure to shoot himself by saying that he must have put both charges of shoc in one barrel. His wife died two years ago, He is a laborer, and is said to be addicted to the use of liquor.

THE ILL-PATED DURHAM. Two of the Uniucky Ship's Mates

Stevens and Higginson, together with four others, started from the ship, which is anchored in the bay, in a small boat for the shore. High wind and tide were prevailing at the time, and in attempting to run near a barse anchored in the stream their boat was washed against the anchor-chain of the barge and capsized. The men were thrown into the waier, but managed to secure a hold on the anchor except the two mates, who clung to the beat, which drifted away and sunk, both men going down. Both men are natives of Liverpool and Higgins leaves a wife and several children it that city.

A strange fatality seems to hang over the British ship Durham. Last Tuesday morning fire broke out on the vessel while she was taking in a cargo of wheat at Port Costa. She was towed down to the city on the toilowing day and moored at Mission Rock. On Friday Capt. J. H. Freeman, on a marine survey for Lloyd's agency, and Fred R. Catton, a representative of the same firm, were suffocated to death in the hold while making a survey of the shin, and to-day, at the very hour when the funeral of Freeman and Catton was in progress, Charles Stevens and William Higginson, first and second mates of the ill-fated ship, were drowned in the bay.

THE CHRISTMAS LITERATURE OF THE DRAMA.

natic Mirror Scores a Hit-"The Black Cat" Changes Hands "Faust Up to Date"-"The Gondo liers"-Wyndham in "The Headless Man"-"Nym Crinkle's" Dis-

The Christmas season is always prolific of a large crop of literature co nected with the stage, and among the best of such publications is the Christmas number of the New York Dramatic Mirror, just received. It is a marvel of good taste and business enough the stage. John S, Murphy is the The cover, with its artistic design lithographed in colors, is alone worth the price asked for the complete number. The book is full of illustra-tions, and includes a number of portraits of leading dramatists, actors and actresses, remarkably well executed. From an artistic point of view this issue surpasses all the good work done by the Dramatic Mirror in the past, while the literary contents are at least as good, and today more interesting. as good, and today more interesting. Among the contributors are found such names as Mrs. Kendal, Henry E. Dixey, Edwin Arden, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Margaret Mather, Dien Boucicault, Bronson Howard, Wilson Barrett, Rhéa, Frank Mayo, Marshall P. Wilder, and many others of equal fame. The Dramatic Mirror is the leading paper of its class in this country, and maintains that position because of its cleanliness and manly purpose, and also because it always has the latest news in theatrical matters.

There is quite a graceful, pretty poem signed by Margaret Mather in the Christmas number of the Dramatic Mirror, and entitled "Pons Asinorum Dramatica." It is a matter of impossibility that the fair Margaret could have composed the lines in question, and her assurance in putting her name to them is only equalled by the nerve she displays in tackling such a part as "Lady Macbeth."

The only exception which can be taken to the illustrations in the Dramatic Mirror is the copy of a painting entitled "Portia," by William E. Marentitled "Portia," by William E. Mar-shall. It is a very poor conception, treated in a conventional manner and entirely lifeless and wooden. What authority is there for the trencher cap which "Portia" wears? Compared with the well-known and exquisite picture by Millais, the work of Marshall ap-pears tame indeed.

The Black Cat announces a change in its financial and editorial manage-ment. The ownership passes into the hands of a stock company and the fu-ture editor will be A. A. Reed. The Black Cat has achieved a great reputa-tion not only in New York but all over tion not only in New York but all over the country for the independent and bright way in which it has treated the theatrical and musical subjects to which it has been entirely devoted. No theatrical advertisements have been admitted to its columns, and no com-plimentary, tickets have been accepted by the editor. Its criticisms have been unsparing and must have caused sore-tmong managers oduction of Faust Up to Date by the London Gaiety Company lately arrived in New York does not seem to have captured the critics or the town. The piece is intended as a "take-off", on the serious performance of Faux, as given by Mr. Irving. It is described as a dreary; commonplace, soporific hurly-burly, the company unattractive, the book dull and the music trivial. The writers are simms and Pettit, the authors of Hands Across the Sea. The Black Cat describes the production further as a phantasmagoria of legs. further as a phantasmagoria of legs, and says: "The four-skirt dancers and says: "The four-skirt dancers were as limberly lovely as such phenomena usually are. Once or twice it was impossible to ascertain just how much was nymph and how much was missed."

Wyndham has made a big success of his new piece, The Headless Man, at Palmer's. The hero of the play is the forgetful man with a system. He has lost his memory, but decides to become a memorizer by method, and his method is excruciating. For instance, you do not want to lose your umbrella during the day. Simplest thing in the world, don't you see. Meet a man. Good morning. Umbrella. Fine day, is it not? Umbrella. The world, don't you see. Meet a man. Good morning. Umbrella. Oh, that's nice. Umbrella By repeating the worl in this way after each remark throughout the day, you never fail to take your umbrella home at night. The fact that the forgetful man is a lawyer with a number of delicate suits on hand complicates the matter in the most ludicrous manner. Mr. Wyndham's acting is spoken of in the highest terms of praise.

its acoustic properties are concerned, its acoustic properties are concerned, and may therefore be considered rightly named. The President's opening speech seems to have gratified the members of the theatrical profession, especially his allusion to dramatic performances as the "enjoyments and pursuits and entertainments which develop the souls of men." Such commendation from a confirmed Presbytarian indicates that there is a loosening of the lines of sectarian prejudice against the theater.

The Merchant of Venice at Harism.

In local theatrical matters, the operahouse has very properly been closed the past week in consequence of cancellation of dates. It is useless to book more attractions than the play-going patronage of the city will warrant, and the management does wisely in giving the public a short interval of respite. It will also do well to continue to cancel such attractions as may have been booked simply to fill up time, and not because of their known merit.

The piece that is to be put on at the opera-house this evening is a realistic irish drama, the main point of the realism being the shoeing of a horse on the stage. John S, Murphy is the principal actor, and his opening piece, Kerry Gow. will probably be very interesting to the lovers of realistic effects.

In competition with the Irish drama,

In competition with the Irish drama, the Georgia Minstrels will open at the Los Angeles Theater tonight.

During the prevalence of the present rainy season, it might increase the patronage of both houses if some provision were made by the management for the care of wraps, umbreflas and overcoats. No doubt, many people stay away from the theater when it rains, or simply showers, because of the discomfort of taking their outer coverings and umbrellas in to the seats. The lack of proper provision for their care is one of the most striking signs of a provincial management, to the eye of a traveled

Where lie those happier hills and meadow

Abit beyond the spirit's inmost cavil
Aught of that country could we surely

Who would not go?

Might we but hear the heavenly angels' high imagined oborus.
Or catch, betimes, with wakeful eyes and clear,
One radiant vista of the realm before us,
With one rapt moment given to see and hear,
Oh! who would fear?

Union Among Tillers of the Soil.
VERDUGO, Dec. 18.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] As the subject of a Producers' Exchange on the cooperative principle is being agitated again, and the people of this section are ap-parently of the opinion that some such action must be taken by producers to enable them to find a market atre-munerative figures for their products, will you kindly allow me space in which to set forth some views on the subject, which were outlined in your paper a year ago.

As far as the writer has noticed, the organizations already started and contemplated do not appear calculated to fill the "long felt want." And yet they are, and promise to be, immensely better than nothing—a step in the right direction.

The trouble with one of them is that it is too local in its character, and with another that it is not composed of small farmers, if of farmers at all. The tendency of the most of these organizations in the past has been toward centralization—the final control of the body here for members, and when that ganizations in the past has been toward centralization—the final control of the body by a few members; and when that begins, cooperation and management for the welfare of the majority is at an aend. To avoid this evil should be one and the prime objects to be kept in view wife organizing such a company as we should all like to see at work here. Another evil to be avoided is the spreading out too much in the beginning. We do not want to try to build canneries, evaporators and crystallizing establishments all at once. Neither do we want high-salaried agents traveling over the country in Pullman cars, stopping at first-class hotels, attending to their own business first and to ours incidentally. All these things let us hope to get eventually, if they seem desirable; but let us, by all means, be content to go slow in the beginning. An effort was made in Passdens last winter to organize a company, on what seems to the writer correct principles, but it failed, apparently because it was too ambitious in its ideas. With the amount of money pledged to that organization, a company might have been formed on the plan outlined below, which could scarcely have failed to be of great benefit to its stockholders and the community.

The first step in the formation of efit to its stockholders and the community.

The first step in the formation of this society is to secure subscribers to the stock of a corporation to be organized under the laws of the State. If 100 subscribers (each an owner or renter of at least one acre of land) for 100 shares of stock, at $10 per share, are secured, and the $1000 so represented paid in, the society is ready for business. In incorporating, put the par value of the stock at $10 per share. In framing bylaws for the control of this company, there are three things which should be insisted upon:

First—That stock shall not be sold to any one who does not own or lease at least one acre of land; and that in the case of the owner of stock giving ap the business of a producer his certificate shall be surrendered to the company, which will pay him its face value.

Second—That the company will not company, which will pay him as a several and a second—That the company will not recognize as valid the claim of any individual, or of more than one member of the same family, to more than one shore of stock; no transfer of stock to be made except from individuals back to the company.

Third—To restrict voting by proxy as much as a possible within the law.

As a beginning, the company could be a commission business, handling only the goods of the stockholders as leave as they could supply the demandance. company's store all the products of the form should be obtainable, from a load of pumpkins to a glass of jelly, and here the consumer could leave his order for a load of wood or a pig! One of the main features of this establishment should be a book in which, opposite to each stockholder's name and address, would be written briefly the number of acres he has in certain crops, the probable or actual yield of various products, the time they will be ready for market, etc. Such a list properly kept would enable the association, to a great extent, to regulate the market, and to see that supply and demand kept pace with each other. Other lists and statistics would enable stockholders to plant the crops that there was the most profitable market for; to avoid overproduction on one hand and a scant supply on the other. Canneries and factories would come in good time, and the traveling agent also; but the home market should be looked after first, even at the risk of spoiling the business of some of our enterprising citizens—the commission men. Such an zens—the commission men. Such an association of the actual tillers of the soil wold tend to the fullest develop-ment of our almost limitless resources, ment of our almost limitless resources, bring the producer and consumer closer together, to the infinite advantage of each, and render unnecessary the costly experiments which farmers are trying year after year in their efforts to find out what the real demand of the market is.

J. C. SHERER,

Gosh, That's a Big Root!

[Tulare Register.]

Quite a curiosity may be seen at the office of W. C. Ambrose. It came from Lancaster, in Kern county, and the story is as follows: The company's artesian well at Lancaster, from which the water is piped for use, has been gradually diminishing in flow of late, and Mr. Ambrose went down day before yesterday, taking G. W. Spence with him, their intention being to clean out the well. When the tap was removed the water came boiling up as briskly, as ever, and it was at once apparent that the stoppage was in the lateral pipe only. This pipe was then unjointed about twenty-five feet from the well, and a piece of what appeared 2-yed rope was seen, which a Chinaman present attempted to pull out, when it broke off. The pipe was then unscrewed where it joined the well-casing and a piece of the same substance was seen. All hands got hold and pulled and succeeded in dragging out a strand of alfairs root 25 feet long. It is composed of tungled fibers, and is as large as a man's arm. It had entered a small sperture where the pipe joined, and had then enlarged to its present size. It is a strange-looking root.

THE bottom has evidently fallen out THE best rain record we believe in the matter of time and quantity is claimed by Cayenne: Twelve feet seven inches, between February 1st and 24th. We still have a week in which to beat this, and propose to do it. Southern California against the

THERE is a general feeling of disgust at the weather from Maine to Cali-fornia, and while those of a contented and philosophical mind endeavor to make the best of it, there are scores of others who propose to growl it out, and see in it proof that what has been said about California winters is a snare and a delusion. Southern California is not perfection; is open to the same dimatic vagaries as one finds elsewhere. There happens, occasionally, a very dry year; again a very wet one, and so on; but we venture to assume that if it rained here a month it would not be as disastrous to human life or human comfort as a single cold wave in any city in the East. Let the dissatisfied tourist, disgusted and disconsolate, as he perhaps has a right to be, watch the death rate in Los Angeles county, following this storm, as it is one of the worst that Southern California has had for years; then let him compare this death rate, the cases of pneumonia, diphtheria, malignant and otherwise, that follow a blizzard in the East in any city of 10,000 population, or any storm which is considered unusevere. The result will be that while the eastern city will show a large number of cases, the Southern Californis death rate will be almost normal. This is one reason why Southern California people who have tested the climate from two to four or more years

At the request of The Times, Dr. W. L. McAllister, Health Officer of this city, has made out a yearly statement of the deaths and their causes in this vicinity, which makes a most interesting showing, and which is given in another column. During the present month one of the most disagreeable and even dangerous storms that we have had for at least ten years there and even dangerous storms that we have had for at least ten years there have been but four deaths reported in dens and vicinity, and by vicinity an within ten miles of the Times on Colorado atreet, including the of Lamanda, Monrovia, South norities state that healthy ities of from 1000 to 15,000 inhabitants should expect a death rate of any 16 per thousand. Assuming that the population of Pasadena and vicinity, including the ten-mile limit, is 15,000, we have a death rate limit, is 15,000, we have a death rate approximately of a little over nine per thousand, as up to date in Pasadena and vicinity. There have been about 125 deaths; of these 48 were consumptives, who came here with consumption, leaving the death rate from causes which we may term indigenous to the soil 65, six of these being deaths by accident. So, if Pasadena was not a health resort; if her actual death rate, excluding the consumptive cases that do not originate here, and accidents, was taken, it would make the remarkable showing of less than five to the thousand—a rate which can but attract the attention of medical men everywhere, as having no parallel. In other words, while Dr. John S. Billings, U.S.A., the recognized authority in this country in such matters, states that thirteen to fifteen per hundred is a fair annual death rate for an avis a fair annual death rate for an average healthy rural district. Pasadena erage healthy rural district. Pasadens and vicinity, which means literally the San Gabriel Valley, can show a rate of about a third of this. In the eastern cities the blizzards and cold winter storms are followed by diphtheria and similar troubles, which make a formidable item in the annual death rate. How is it here? Dr. Mc-Allister tells us that in the year there were four cases of meumonia one were four cases of pneumonia, one of diphtheria. In running over the eastern death rates, typhoid fever strikes the eye as claiming many victims. In Pasadena and her 10-mile limit there were 11 cases, or less than one a month, in an area covering many aguare miles, including a dozen or attests and poets; experiments of the properties square miles, including a dozen or more towns, none of which boast a sewer system. We commend the stateof Dr. McAllister to those who that something better can be show everybody else a good time during the holidays, and the result is an array of social events that would make the more conservative society of the East wild with envy.

The programmes to be carried out at the Raymond, the Painter and the Southern have already been given in full in The Times. A special event is arranged for each evening of the week at these three hotels, so that the guests will be well taken care of.

In nearly all the churches Christmas entertainments will amuse the children, as well as those older. Uncle Tom's Cabin will occupy the operahouse one day during the week. Company B will be mustered into service this evening, several social dances will

PASADENA'S HEALTH.

THE HEALTH OFFICER'S RE PORT FOR THE YEAR.

Remarkable Showing-Pasadena' Death Rate About Five Per 1000 -Figures That Tell the Story of a Superior Climate.

Dr. W.L. McAllister, Health Officer of Pasadena, has kindly given THE TIMES for the benefit of its readers a general statement regarding the health of this region, and his figures and records of death here with causes. They made so striking a showing that others than medical men will be interested in them. He shows that there have been but 125 deaths in this city and vicinity during the past year; the term vicinity meaning the country about Pasadena for nine or ten miles, including all the towns as far as Monrovia, and including a population which is set relatively at 15,000.

The following is the list of diseases:

hild birth arasmus .... of stomach.

18 to 15 per 1600 is considered very good in the East, the San Gabriel Valley, and Pasadena, may congratulate titself upon having the healthlest climate in the world; that is, the finest life-prolonging climate. It is barely possible that 15,000 is a high estimate, there being no figures at hand, but we rather think it is underestimating it; however, seven, eight or nine deaths to

FIRST IMPRESSIONS.

A Pennsylvanian Says Kind Words

for Pasadena.
The following first impressions of Southern California, and more particularly of Pasadena, are taken from a letter written by a Pennsylvanian who recently arrived here for a winter's sojourn, which letter has been published in an eastern journal:

"A large proportion of Southern Californis is made up of cultured and intelligent men and women. Probably no town in the country can boast of a brainer lot of residents than Pasadena. Here are authors, artists and poets; eminent clergy-men and medical specialists; learned legal lights, botanists, mining experts, and scores of other men who have made a more than local reputation for themselves. Everybody lives out of doors as much as possible, and the open-air life effects a healthy social spirit, wholly free from sham, that might well be patterued after by the more conservative society of the East. Acquaintances are formed and ripen quickly. The people are openhearted, candid and seldom stingy. At a recent rabbit hunt near Pasadena one of the riders, a stranger with little money, lost control of his horse. The animal fell and broke its neck. In less than an hour enough cash had been quietly raised among the members of the Hunt Club to buy the poor fellow a better horse than he had lost. This is but one illustration of Californian generosity that has come under my personal observation."

Wet and Quiet Sunday Before a Few of the guests at the Raymond ventured out yesterday. The day passed quietly, the never-failing topic of conversation being the ensuing week's festivities. A sacred concert was given in the afternoon by the orchestra, and an evening song service was attended by most of the guests at the house.

The hop Saturday evening was a brilliant affair. The floor of the music hall was filled with dancers, and the sides of the room were lined with spectators. Many of the new arrivals on the excursion Saturday afternoon participated, and a number of Pasadenians were also present.

A large number of invitations have been issued for the hop this evening, which is the opening event of carrival week. Attractive music, prepared specially for this occasion, will be rendered by the orchestra.

Saturday's excursion comfortably fills the big building with guests, the majority of whom are here for the winter.

THE PAINTER.

An impromptu entertainment was given Saturday evening by some of the guests, consisting of well-rendered vocal and instrumental selections and select readings and recitations.

Probably Imaginary.

Probably Imaginary.
[San Diego Sun, Dec. 17th.]
A Santa Fé conductor informed this office last evening that hundreds of people, ticketed to San Diego from the East, do not come here at all, owing to the misrepresentation of Los Angeles people who happen to be on board the trains. He suggested that this city ought to have an agent to travel on the cars this side of The Needles and advertise the city thoroughly. No doubt this would be an advantage. Perhaps, however, the same results could be had through a chamber of commerce annex at Los Angeles, and by running the San Diego cars direct to this city by way of San Bernardino. However that may be, something should be done to keep Los Angeles from capturing our tourist consignments, and done without delay.

Yesterday an old man, familiarly known as "Col." J. J. Kelly, who has been soliciting subscriptions for art works, for some weeks past, came around the police station in a state of maudlin drunkenness, and proceeded to make a general nuisance of himself. He was sent to his room a couple of times, but on coming around for the third time, Chief Glass ordered him to be locked up and a charge of drunk put against him. Kelly claims to be the agent of Goupil & Co. of Philadelphia, and has his cards printed that way. He is a well-educated man, and has a general acquaintance in the city, having been engaged in selling works of art in this city for some months.
